

Call for Proposals

InterAction, From Pledge to Action Project: Piloting Solutions Grants

INTRODUCTION

InterAction is the largest alliance of international NGOs and partners in the United States, with over 180 members who work across the development and humanitarian landscape.

InterAction has been working with members and others in the sector to address sexual harassment and abuse for over a decade. In March 2018, a taskforce of CEOs from InterAction member organizations launched a Pledge on Preventing Sexual Abuse, Exploitation, and Harassment by and of NGO staff. Now signed by 139 CEOs, the Pledge outlines aspirational commitments towards sustained and significant changes by ensuring policies, procedures, and practices are strengthened, transparency and accountability enhanced, and root causes of harassment and abuse are addressed so that our offices and programs are safer spaces for all.

In early 2019, InterAction launched its three-year project, From Pledge to Action. The objective of this program is to work with member organizations and the broader humanitarian and development community to realize our global safeguarding goals by building consensus around best practices and embed sustainable solutions within our institutions.

Key components of the From Pledge to Action project are two sub-grant mechanisms:

- Initiating Change grants: This is the funding opportunity relevant to this Call for Proposals. These grants will support organizations to invest in small scale, key initiatives that facilitate their progress towards meeting the commitments of the Pledge.
- Piloting Solutions grants: Awards to individual organizations, or a collective of members, will fund programs piloting solutions to prevent and respond to sexual harassment and abuse, with the potential for learning and scale up by the broader community.

This “Call for Proposals for Piloting Solutions” grants are soliciting applications from signatories of InterAction’s CEO Pledge and member organizations, with the objective of funding impactful and learning centered projects through 2021. In 2019 InterAction awarded four Piloting Solutions grants to organizations to develop new approaches to prevent and respond to sexual harassment, exploitation, and abuse (SHEA) by and of NGO staff.

ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA

Proposals are welcomed and encouraged from any organizations that meet the following requirements:

- CEO is signatory to InterAction CEO Pledge.

- Organization is a member in good standing with InterAction¹.
- Organization staff actively participate in InterAction events and working groups related to furthering the CEO Pledge.
- Organizations can demonstrate, through actions or funding, their need for the development of internal policies and procedures and/or, can demonstrate a contribution to the success of the proposed program.
- Organization has demonstrated need for an evaluation and/or testing of newly revised procedure, protocol, or process related to the CEO Pledge.

ELIGIBLE PROJECTS AND ACTIVITIES

Activities that can be supported through this Call are not limited to a particular project design or approach. A wide range of projects that contribute to organizational capacity building, systems strengthening, or quality improvement will be considered.

Proposed activities may focus on:

1. Approaches to prevent exploitation and abuse associated with programs, or enhance processes to report, investigate and provide survivor-centered responses, including in specific geographical locations, between agencies or within an organization.
2. Innovative programs that seek to address workplace harassment, its root causes, measures to keep staff safe, listen to concerns, and build workplace cultures in which all can thrive.
3. Projects that improve the evidence base or understanding of a component of safeguarding, that would lead to better practices across the sector. Some of the areas in which knowledge gaps in best practices exist include community and staff complaints mechanisms, hiring mechanisms, communicating across cultures around sexual abuse, mapping of resources and services in development and humanitarian settings, ensuring consistency of standards across confederated organizations, with local partners and contractors.
4. Previous successful proposals include testing new methodologies that would engage with the organization's male colleagues to raise accountability and create a safer work environment, streamline training packages for regional safeguarding focal points, develop community based complaint mechanisms that fits the need of various communities within a targeted region, and create a how-to-guide for field offices in producing and implementing an effective SHEA policy

BUDGET & TIME FRAME

Applicants should submit a detailed budget of the expected costs of implementing the program, using the attached budget template (Appendix 2). As a guide, each grant awarded is not expected to exceed $35,000. If applying jointly the grant award is not expected to exceed $40,000.

The more prioritized activities and budgets are within the proposals the better InterAction can collectively leverage these resources to benefit multiple organizations in advancing progress on

PROPOSAL REVIEW

Applications will be reviewed by an external Advisory Committee, comprised of subject-matter experts in sexual harassment and abuse, human resources, legal counsel, grants, sector leadership, and organizational change. All submitted proposals will be evaluated according to pre-determined scoring criteria, including the following:

- Foreseen results and impact: priority will be given to projects coherent with the organization's long-term capacity development strategy and aiming to have ambitious and sustainable impacts on the organization.
- Technical capacity to manage the funds and complete the activity: The organization should demonstrate it has managed similar amounts in the past, or that it has the capacities to do so. It should also demonstrate it will be able to meet the project deadline.
- Sustainability: Priority will be given to those organizations which clearly communicate a sustainability plan of action beyond the project, this can include future funding commitments.
- Organizational Contribution: Organizations can provide financial or in-kind contributions through dedicated staff time or subject matter expertise. Each submission will be evaluated on this component, but it will not be the sole determining factor in whether or not a project is funded.
- Participation: Organization's active participation with InterAction's From Pledge to Action working group will be a key criteria in the evaluation of proposals. Members are encouraged join and actively participate in meetings, workshops, and working group initiatives to the best of their ability.

InterAction reserves the right to bundle funding to more than one applicant where similar approaches are proposed, for the purpose of effectiveness and efficiency. Due to limited funding availability, and depending on the scope and quality of applications, InterAction will determine how many grants are awarded, in line with the overall objective of the From Pledge to Action project, to support progress amongst all members towards improved safeguarding initiatives.

Applicants will be notified of their application status in writing within six weeks of the closing date for this Call for Proposals. Notice of decision will only be provided at the completion of the entire assessment process.

MONITORING, EVALUATION AND REPORTING:

Successful applicants will liaise with the From Pledge to Action Subgrant Manager, Soshana Hashmie, as a primary point of contact, alongside other InterAction staff members.

Objectives with verifiable indicators (and baselines and targets where applicable) that enable results of the program to be reported should be included in the proposal.

An interim report will be requested mid-way through the project duration. Additionally, on completion of the project, a single end of project report should be submitted to InterAction, including results of progress against objectives. Further details of reporting requirements will be outlined in the Grant Agreement and in line with the commitments of the Grand Bargain.
